

Let's discuss climate issues together in order to:

Co-develop resilient territories

Boost collective innovation

Take action

A 2h collaborative workshop inspired by the Climate Fresk, developed by a team from the HES-SO Valais Wallis.

Dedicated to those involved in tourism, the workshop helps participants better understand the specific challenges faced by mountain territories in the context of climate change.

Two hours of playful interaction to explore the causes and consequences of climate change in mountain areas and to imagine collective solutions.

Focus on solutions and measures appropriate to each territory

Workshop overview

1

- Participants get together in teams of 4 to 10 people.
- They explore cards representing different impacts, as well as mitigation and adaptation challenges in response to climate change in mountain destinations.

Relationship identification

2

- Connected cards reveal cause-and-effect relationships, as well as adaptation and mitigation dynamics specific to the mountain territory.
- The participants are guided throughout the workshop by a facilitator.

Creativity and common vision

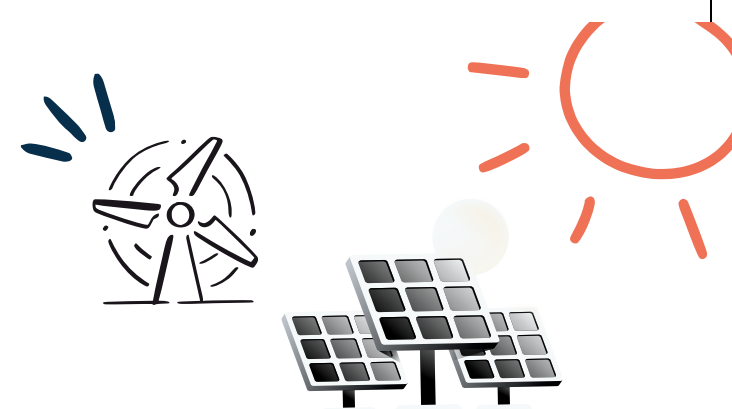

3

- Participants project themselves into the future through a persona linked to the territory: tourist, resident, professional, elected representative, or non-human character.

Solutions and moving to action

4

- As a group, participants build a vision for 2050 and identify concrete actions to support the transition of mountain tourism.

Strengthening knowledge and co-creation among tourism stakeholders in order to build a shared understanding and develop concrete solutions for the territory.
